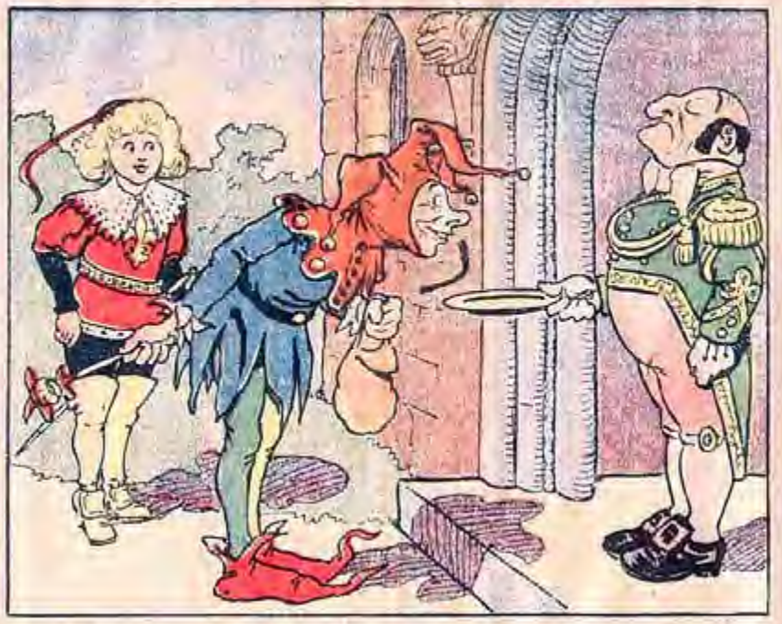
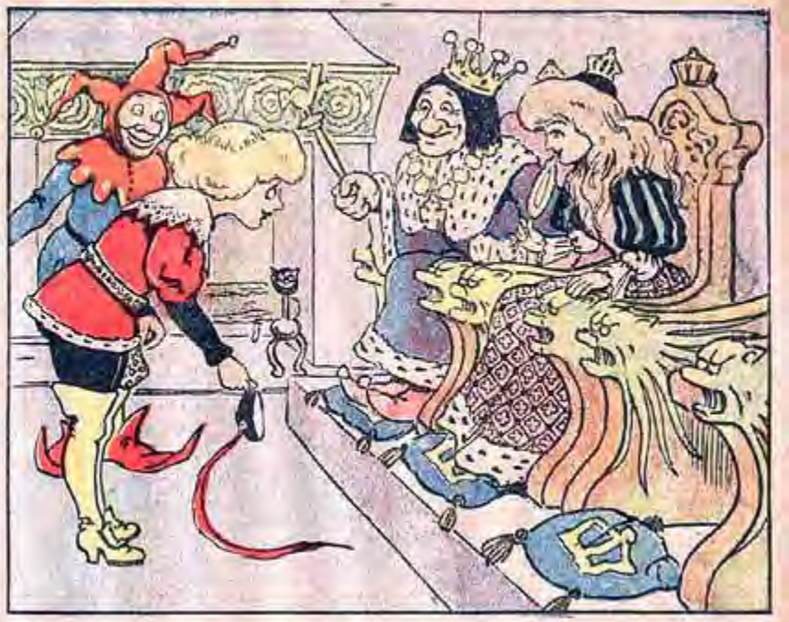
Prince Errant: He Meeteth Ye Merry Jester

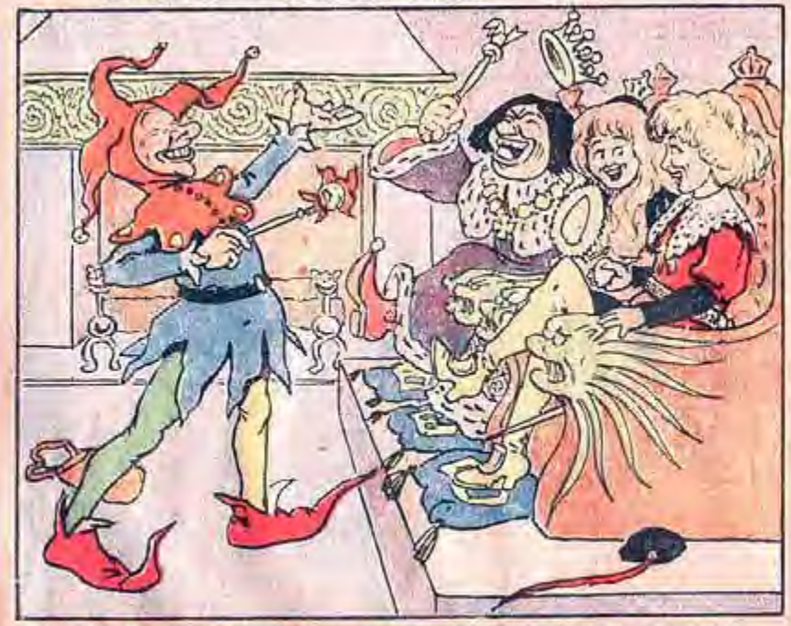
1. Ha! Ha, the Jester: "Who am I?" Why I am Ha! Ha! The King of Fools gathering a fresh supply of chestnuts before seeking another job.
Prince Errant: I am Prince Errant who seeketh a Princess, methinks if we travel together we both may fare better.



2. Ha! Ha! the Jester: Inform your most Noble King, the Great Prince Errant and his jester await without his gates and would like to make merry with him.

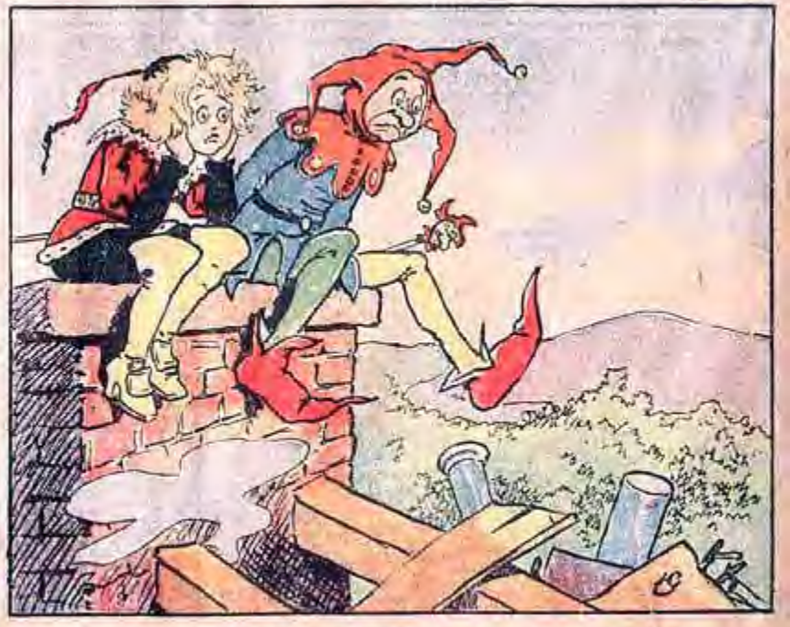


3. King Chromo: 'Tis twice welcome thou art Prince, sit thee beside my daughter, the Princess, and allow your fool to proceed with his mirth.

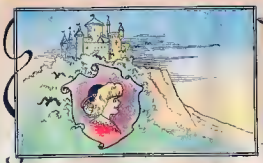


4. Ha! Ha, the Jester: As there is no answer forthcoming to my commanddrum I will enlighten thee, King—The reason a chicken crosses the street is to get on the other side.
King Chromo: Ha! Ha! Great! "To get on the other side" Ha! Ha! Ha!

5. Prince Errant: Gazooks—Just when I have found my Princess, the fool's jest has broughr the house down.
Ha! Ha! the Jester: Quick, Prince, to the chimney, the walls even tumble to my sallies of wit.



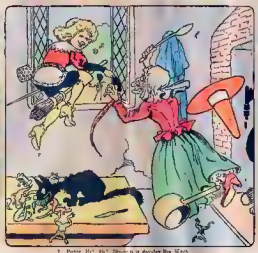
6. Prince Errant: Thou art indeed a fool, you carry your jests too far.
Ha! Ha! the Jester: 'Tis said Prince, that all the world's a stage, but would that it was an air ship instead.

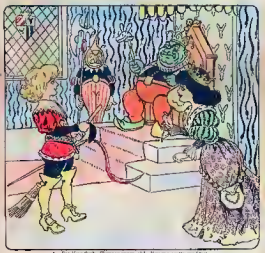


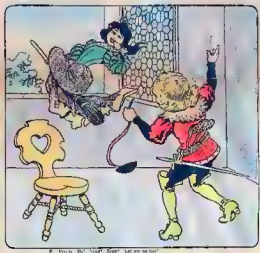
HUMBOLDT STANDARD

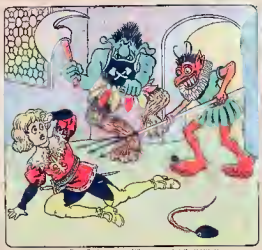
COMIC SECTION

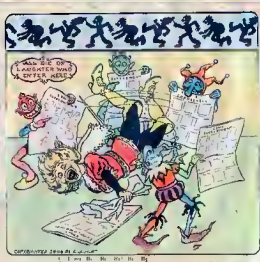
Prince Eelant — HE RESCUES A PRINCESS BUT—ALAS! ALAS?!











Prince Errant DISCOVERS ALADDIN'S LAMP

Haha, the Jester: Well, this is a queer place to find a lamp.
Prince Errant: It's lucky we found it; we can now find our way out of this dark wood.

Prince: Why, it has a name on it, A-L-A-D-D-I-N, Aladdin. Why, it's the long-lost Aladdin's lamp; I'll rub it and see what happens.

Genii: I am the slave in charge of Aladdin's treasures. Command me.
Haha: Help! Help! Great Scot! I thought I was sitting on a volcano!

Genii: Seven thousand steps north by north-east will bring us to the treasure chamber.
Haha: I'll keep my eye on that bunch of smoke, as I am always suspicious of fellows that want to give away money.

Genii: All is yours; I'll get you sacks, so that you may carry away as much as you desire.
Haha: This must be a dream; I'll pinch myself to see if I am awake.

Haha: Well, this is beyond my fondest dreams; I only wish now that I was a jackass so I could carry the load.
Prince: That was a happy thought; I'll rub the lamp and wish you are in a jiffy.

Prince: There you are, Haha! Now you can carry both our loads and ma too. My! but how natural you look!

Brigand: Hands up, my fine friend! Thou art too young to be in charge of so much treasure.

Brigand: Ta, ta, Prince; I'll leave you that old lamp, as I am not in the junk business.
Prince: If I could only reach the lamp!—the lamp!!
Haha: I don't mind being a fool, but when it comes to being a jackass too, it's too much.